SAN FRANCISCO

Children need to see themselves and others in the mirrors and windows that books provide. The titles chosen for the Everybody Reads Summer Guide represent the intentionality of giving voice and space to the underrepresented populations to which San Francisco Public Library has dedicated itself.

ABOUT THE SUMMER STRIDE 2024 ARTIST:

Sendy Santamaria is an illustrator, designer and kids' lit author from San Diego, currently based in Northern California. She received her BFA in Illustration with distinction from California College of the Arts. She enjoys storytelling through multiple mediums. Santamaria released her debut picture book, Yenebi's Drive to School, in June 2023. She grew up along both sides of the border between San Diego and Tijuana and spent a lot of time daydreaming on the San Diego Blue Line trolley. Her work celebrates everyday narratives and Mexican American culture. She is inspired by migration, perseverance, pigeons and love.

We acknowledge that, as residents of San Francisco, we are guests on the unceded ancestral homeland of the Ramaytush Ohlone who continue to live, learn and play here today. San Francisco Public Library and the Human Rights Commission are dedicated to empowering our community to seek the truth and better understand how historical events and the oppression of Indigenous Peoples have shaped our society today. We can honor the Ramaytush Ohlone by increasing our knowledge of their history and culture, by supporting reparations efforts and by taking care of the Earth, the animals and one another.

When the Beat Was Born: DJ Kool Herc and the Creation of Hip Hop

Written by Laban Carrick Hill and Illustrated by Theodore Taylor III

On a hot day at the end of summer in 1973, Cindy Campbell threw a back-to-school party at a park in the South Bronx. Her brother, Clive Campbell, spun the records. He had a new way of playing the music to make the breaks—the musical interludes between verses—longer for dancing. He called himself DJ Kool Herc and this is when “the Beat was Born.” From his childhood in Jamaica to his youth in the Bronx, this book tells how Kool Herc came to be a DJ, how kids in gangs stopped fighting in order to breakdance and how the music he invented went on to define a culture and transform the world.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: LABAN CARRICK HILL

Laban Carrick Hill is the author of America Dreaming: How Youth Changed America in the '60s, Harlem Stomp!: A Cultural History of the Harlem Renaissance, which was a National Book Award finalist and Dave the Potter, a Caldecott Honor book, illustrated by Bryan Collier.

ABOUT THE ILLUSTRATOR: THEODORE TAYLOR III

Theodore Taylor III is an artist living in Richmond, Virginia. His work is inspired by his love of music, comics, animation, video games, street art and more. He is also a self-proclaimed pizza connoisseur. The book also won the Texas Bluebonnet Award.

Yenebi's Drive to School

Written and Illustrated by Sendy Santamaria

A whole new spin on one loving family's morning drive to school.

Every morning, Yenebi is up at four o'clock.

She brushes her teeth, gets dressed and drags her sister Melanie to the car where Mami's waiting.

¡Se nos va a hacer tarde! ¡Apúrense!

For the next two hours, the sisters will be in the car driving—past tamale vendors (a favorite part), through la línea (least favorite part) and across the U.S. border. That's how they get to school every day. This is their normal. Vamos!

ABOUT THE AUTHOR/ILLUSTRATOR: SENDY SANTAMARIA

Debut author/illustrator Sendy Santamaria tells the story of one girl's commute, a commute Sendy herself made growing up as an American citizen living in Mexico and San Diego. Yenebi's Drive to School takes readers on a trip to school that many will recognize as very similar to their own. Santamaria is San Francisco Public Library's 2024 Summer Stride artist.

Written by Brittany Luby and Illustrated by Natasha Donovan

When Ojiig moves to the city with his family, he misses everything they left behind. Most of all, he misses the sparkling night sky. Without the stars watching over him, he feels lost. His parents try to help, but nothing seems to work. Not glow-in-the-dark sticker stars, not a star-shaped nightlight. But then they have a new idea for how to make Ojiig feel better—a special quilt stitched through with family stories that will wrap Ojiig in the warmth of knowing who he is and where he came from.

Rafa Counts on Papá

Written and Illustrated by Joe Cepeda

Between the leftover Filipino food in their lunches to having a last name that nobody can pronounce, any sense of belonging seems like a long shot. To make matters worse, they have to help their parents run the family food truck, dressing up as a dancing pig and passing out samples. But when witches, ogres and other creatures from Filipino folklore appear in their town and threaten their family, the siblings realize that the myths their parents have always told them may be more real than they'd suspected.
