Audition with Katie Kitamura

Katie Kitamura

Join acclaimed novelist Katie Kitamura and author Karen Russell as they explore Kitamura's latest novel, Audition. Kitamura discusses her writing process and the ideas that shape this psychologically rich work, probing performance, intimacy and the stories we tell about ourselves. Known for her incisive prose and keen insight into human relationships, Kitamura offers a thoughtful look at how identity is formed and tested—on the page and in life.

Author Talk: Katie Kitamura in Conversation with Karen Russell – Feb. 20, 4 p.m., Main Library, Koret Auditorium, Lower Level

Experience the Magic of Theater and Storytelling

Join Z Space's Word for Word for a special stage adaptation of Dave Eggers' book, The Eyes and the Impossible. A sampling of the stage performance at the Main Library is followed by a conversation with the creative team—including Eggers! At our Ortega Branch, bring the book to life with movement, theater games and imaginative play in a workshop setting. For children ages 6 and older. See all programs throughout SFPL related to this exciting project: on.sfpl.org/eyes.

The Eyes and the Impossible Sample Stage Production with Dave Eggers – Feb. 20, 11 a.m., Main Library, Koret Auditorium, Lower Level. Reservations required: email sfplcpp@sfpl.org.

Collections Corner: See the City's Story Unfold—One Map at a Time

Sanborn Insurance Maps, vol 1, p. 55, corner of Powell & Vallejo, North Beach Branch, 1905

Ever wondered how San Francisco came to look the way it does today? The San Francisco History Center has thousands of maps that tell that fascinating story. From topographic and railroad maps to panoramic views and quirky designs, these maps capture the city's growth and transformation over time. Some show building details and property lines while others reveal street patterns, parks and transportation systems. Sanborn Maps even document materials and building functions. Each map reflects its era and its creator, offering clues about the City's physical and cultural landscape at a specific moment in history. They're more than just charts—they're windows into the past.

The new display You Are Here: San Francisco on the Map features favorite selections from the Archives and Special Collections staff and is now on display on the 6th Floor, just outside the San Francisco History Center. Discover how maps bring San Francisco's history to life. To learn more about this and other highlights, visit on.sfpl.org/sf-history.

Kashana Cauley's The Survivalists

Explore The Survivalists through conversations and book clubs that dig into Kashana Cauley's sharp, darkly funny take on ambition, friendship and fear. The novel follows rising lawyer Aretha as her carefully planned life unravels after moving in with a gun-dealing boyfriend and his apocalypse-ready circle. Blending satire with social insight, Cauley examines race, class and the modern hustle—making this a timely pick for readers drawn to witty, unsettling novels about security and survival.

Kashana Cauley

If you liked The Survivalists...

Like The Survivalists, these books explore the tension between ambition, identity and the uneasy pursuit of stability in a world that often feels on the brink. Blending sharp social commentary with dark humor and emotional insight, they reveal what it means to seek success, connection and survival amid modern chaos. Check the booklist out at on.sfpl.org/TheSurvivalists.

Luster by Raven Leilani

A sharp, darkly funny debut about a young Black woman navigating ambition, desire and moral compromise amid creativity, capitalism and unequal power.

Assembly by Natasha Brown

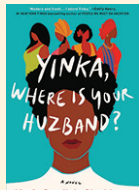

A minimalist, piercing portrait of a Black British woman confronting the hidden costs of success, respectability and social expectation.

Nightcrawling by Leila Mottley

An unsettling coming-of-age novel about survival and exploitation, revealing how vulnerability is preyed upon in an unforgiving urban system.

Yinka, Where Is Your Husband? by Lizzie Damilola Blackburn

A witty, voice-driven novel about friendship, family pressure and defining happiness on one's own terms.

All This Could Be Different by Sarah Thankam Mathews

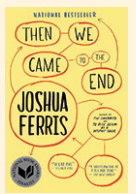

A darkly comic story of a young immigrant woman building chosen family while navigating precarity, instability and redefined ideas of success.

Such a Fun Age by Kiley Reid

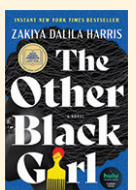

A biting social satire that examines race, class and performative progressivism through a young woman caught in a moment gone viral.

Then We Came to the End by Joshua Ferris

An absurd, suspenseful look at office life and collective anxiety, capturing modern work culture with humor and empathy.

The Other Black Girl by Zakiya Dalila Harris

A psychological workplace novel about ambition and assimilation, where a new coworker exposes the dangers of belonging at any cost.

Patricia Owen's Sculptural Design Bookbindings

Patricia (Patty) Owen was a prolific bookbinder whose education in ceramics and painting and professional career as an architect inspired her passion and love for bookbinding. Well known in the bookbinding community, Owen's design bookbindings are sculptural and materially sumptuous, often combining leathers with onlays of different materials. After many successful years working as an architect alongside her husband, Rob, Owen dedicated herself full-time to bookbinding. She worked tirelessly on her bindings, studied with many teachers and attended workshops and seminars. Owen continued to regularly exhibit her design bindings both internationally and in the United States.

In 2024, Owen passed away from cancer. For the last 30 years of her life, she spent most days constructing her design bindings and boxes in her studio in Santa Monica, California. Stacked on shelves in her studio are many fine-print text blocks waiting to be bound. If she had had more time, it is certain Owen would have created many more wonderful bindings.

Inked Zodiac with Tattoo Artist Jimmy Shy

For the past 15 years, Taiwanese tattoo artist Jimmy Shy has been at the forefront of a new generation of tattooers focusing on Asian sailor tattoos, Hong Kong traditional styles and the legacy of tattooist Pinky Yun. One of 25 artists showcased in the exhibition Living Tattoo Traditions: American Irezumi and Beyond, Shy has a satellite exhibition in the Chinese Center through March 26, titled Inked Zodiac: The Art of Jimmy

Shy. In conversation with Takahiro "Taki" Kitamura, Shy discusses his work, his influences and bridging the worlds he inhabits.

Tattoos as Personal Archives

Archivist Terry Baxter and photographer Tenari Tuātagaloa join moderator Adrienne Storey, SF's City Archivist, to explore tattoos as personal archives—records of memory, identity and community that live on the body. Inspired by Baxter and Libby Coyner's book, Stories on Skin: A Librarian's Guide to Tattoos as Personal Archives and the Library's exhibition, Living Tattoo Traditions: American Irezumi and Beyond, the conversation considers how people use ink to honor lineage, resist erasure and carry stories forward.

The Librarians: A Special Screening

The Librarians follows library workers across the country as they respond to book bans and rising censorship. Through personal stories and firsthand accounts, the film highlights the essential role library staff play in protecting access to information and the right to read. A moderated conversation with Drag Laureate Per Sia and SFUSD librarian and author René Peña Govea follows the screening. Presented with KQED, San Francisco Public Library and Independent Lens. Space limited. Reservations required: sign up at kqed.org/events.

Premiere Screening: The Librarians – Feb. 8, 2 p.m., Main Library, Koret Auditorium, Lower Level

Making Waves: The Rise of Asian America

Over 50 years ago, the epicenter of student movements for ethnic studies led to the creation of Asian American Studies programs at UC Berkeley and San Francisco State University. Successive stories spanning a generation of student-led activism that impacted Asian American communities unfold in Making Waves: The Rise of Asian America.

This documentary encapsulates themes of resistance and a search for cultural identity rooted in and empowered by community activism amidst struggles against anti-Asian hate. A discussion featuring local filmmakers Jon Osaki (Not Your Model Minority) and Josh Chuck (Chinatown Rising) and members from AAPI Youth Rising follows the screening.

Explore Filmmaking with SF Art & Film

SF Art & Film guides teens ages 12–18 through the world of filmmaking in this weekly, hands-on program running every Tuesday through March 26. Participants learn the basics of filmmaking from start to finish, including scriptwriting, shot composition, filming and editing while working together to create a short film. This series encourages creativity, collaboration and visual storytelling. No prior experience is necessary—just bring your ideas and interest in film. Reservations required: artandfilm.org/mix.

The mission of Friends of the San Francisco Public Library is to support, strengthen and advocate for a premier San Francisco Public Library.

Love Your Library: Show Your Support for SFPL All Month Long

February is the perfect time to celebrate the place San Franciscans love: our public library. At Friends of the San Francisco Public Library, we believe that a strong, vibrant library system matters and that it thrives because of people like you.

This month, we invite you to show your library a little extra love in any way that feels meaningful to you, including:

Become a Friend (or Renew Your Membership!)

Membership with the Friends directly strengthens SFPL by supporting programs, events and branch improvements across the city. Every member helps keep our library free, accessible and extraordinary.

Make a Donation

Your financial support helps Friends fund programs, expand collections and keep the Library thriving for everyone. Every contribution, large or small, makes a difference. Thank you for being part of the Friends community and for making SFPL a place that welcomes, inspires and connects us all.

Donate Books

Give your gently used books a new life. Your donations help stock our bookstores, support literacy programs and fund vital free resources for readers of all ages.

Shop the SFPL Store

Show your Library pride while supporting Friends’ mission. Every purchase helps fund programs, events and library resources. Explore the collection at sfplstore.com.

Attend a Library Event

From author talks to arts programs to storytimes, SFPL offers hundreds of events each month. Invite someone along and explore the creativity, knowledge and excitement waiting at your library.

Use Your Library Card

Checking out books, movies, eBooks, tools and more is a simple but powerful way to support SFPL. Every time you use your library, you help demonstrate its vital role in our community.

Thank you for being part of the Friends community and for helping make SFPL a place where everyone can discover, learn and grow. Learn more about the programs and resources we support at friendssfpl.org/whatwefund.

“What’s not to love about SFPL branches?! They’re a public treasure and a clear reminder of the value of civic institutions. I’m grateful for my library and feel lucky that I’m able to support it.”
– Noel K. (Library Patron)
