History & Mission

SF Public Library has had an Online High School since 2015, starting with Career Online High School, enrolling from 2015 through 2024

Excel Online High School at SFPL opened its doors in February 2025

Eligibility requirements:

- SF Resident
- Over age 19
- Does not currently have a U.S. issued High School Diploma

Student Body:

- 84 students currently actively enrolled in Excel Online High School
- Students enrolled in Career Online High School can still finish up if they are granted a State scholarship.

Creating a democratic, equitable and vibrant San Francisco and connecting our diverse communities to learning, opportunities and each other.

It Takes Grit

The Library awards each student a scholarship to be able to complete the program after they complete a prerequisite course and come in for an in-person interview.

The current program gives each student 2 years to finish.

The program is self-directed and self-paced so it fits in where the student can fit it in – while working full-time and taking care of loved ones.

Earning a diploma, especially an online one, shows determination, commitment and grit to get it done.

Sharing a Momentous Occasion

Studies have shown the earning potential between those with a GED and a diploma shows higher earnings for those with a diploma.

The unemployment rate among diploma holders is lower than those without one.

The investment of time is an investment for the future.
