OBITUARY

We remember and celebrate the life of Nancy Lee, a beloved wife, mother, sister, and friend.

Born and raised in Hong Kong, Nancy later immigrated to the United States with her parents and five siblings in 1975. After settling in San Francisco, she met Jimmy, and the two married in 1992. Together, they welcomed their daughter, Rennie, in 1997.

Nancy dedicated much of her life to serving her community through her work as a library technician. Over the course of 38 years, she worked at libraries across the city, building a meaningful career that reflected her love of books and commitment to helping others.

Outside of work, Nancy enjoyed crafting and reading. Those who knew her will remember the care she showed to those around her, always looking after the people she loved and creating handmade gifts for family and friends.

Nancy will be deeply missed by her husband, daughter, siblings, extended family, and friends. She leaves behind a lifetime of memories that will be cherished by those who were fortunate enough to know and love her.
