When You Trap a Tiger

Written by Tae Keller

When Lily and her family move in with her sick grandmother, a magical tiger straight out of her Halmoni's Korean folktales arrives, prompting Lily to unravel a secret family history. Long, long ago, Halmoni stole something from the tigers. Now they want it back. With the help of her sister and her new friend Ricky, Lily must find her voice...and the courage to face a tiger.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR - TAE KELLER

Tae Keller is the Newbery Medal-winning and New York Times bestselling author of When You Trap a Tiger and The Science of Breakable Things. She grew up in Honolulu, Hawai'i, where she subsisted on kimchi, purple rice and stories. Now, she writes about biracial girls trying to find their voices, and lives in Seattle with her husband and a multitude of books.
