Christine Boulware

chris@thehawkinscompany.com

Chris Boulware serves as a Senior Consultant with The Hawkins Company, and has over 20 years of experience in executive search and 6 years of senior level financial management experience in state government. She has recruited for newly elected Mayors, governors and staffed cabinet level offices for the White House. Her areas of expertise include advocacy groups, education, health organizations, human services, transportation and governmental and quasi-governmental leadership roles. Ms. Boulware also has extensive experience in the areas of public policy, human resources, banking, economic development, engineering, administration, and operations. She has led numerous stakeholder engagements and has recruited library executives for local governments including the Library Director for the City of Detroit.

Before becoming a professional executive recruiter, Ms. Boulware served for five years in key fiscal and managerial roles with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. She served as a Senior Budget Analyst with the Massachusetts Bureau of Fiscal Affairs and, subsequently, as Co-Budget Director for the Massachusetts Department of Social Services. In this latter capacity, she was responsible for the administration of a $226 million budget for the Department of Social Services. She also staffed the budget office of this newly created Department and developed policies consistent with the gubernatorial agendas and state administrative policy. In 1992, Ms. Boulware served as an active member of President Clinton's first-term transition search team. She has a bachelor's degree in Political Economy from Sweet Briar College in Virginia.
